

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
EASTERN DISTRICT OF WISCONSIN

LC HOGAN,

Plaintiff,

v.

Case No. 24-CV-1036-JPS

ZACKARY LANGE, RODNEY
REYNOLDS, YANA PUSICH, and KASHAYLA WILLIAMS,

Defendants.

ORDER

Plaintiff LC Hogan, an inmate confined at Waupun Correctional Institution (“WCI”), filed a pro se complaint under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 alleging that Defendants violated his constitutional rights. ECF 1. This Order resolves Plaintiff’s motion for leave to proceed without prepaying the filing fee and screens his complaint.

1. MOTION FOR LEAVE TO PROCEED WITHOUT PREPAYING THE FILING FEE

The Prison Litigation Reform Act (“PLRA”) applies to this case because Plaintiff was a prisoner when he filed his complaint. See 28 U.S.C. § 1915(h). The PLRA allows the Court to give a prisoner plaintiff the ability to proceed with his case without prepaying the civil case filing fee. Id. § 1915(a)(2). When funds exist, the prisoner must pay an initial partial filing fee. 28 U.S.C. § 1915(b)(1). He must then pay the balance of the $350 filing fee over time, through deductions from his prisoner account. Id.

On August 20, 2024, Magistrate Judge Stephen C. Dries ordered Plaintiff to pay an initial partial filing fee of $17.85. ECF No. 5. On September 3, 2024, the case was transferred to this branch of the Court.

Plaintiff paid that fee on September 10, 2024 The Court will grant Plaintiff's motion for leave to proceed without prepaying the filing fee. ECF No. 2. He must pay the remainder of the filing fee over time in the manner explained at the end of this Order.

2. SCREENING THE COMPLAINT

2.1 Federal Screening Standard

Under the PLRA, the Court must screen complaints brought by prisoners seeking relief from a governmental entity or an officer or employee of a governmental entity. 28 U.S.C. § 1915A(a). The Court must dismiss a complaint if the prisoner raises claims that are legally "frivolous or malicious," that fail to state a claim upon which relief may be granted, or that seek monetary relief from a defendant who is immune from such relief. 28 U.S.C. § 1915A(b).

In determining whether the complaint states a claim, the Court applies the same standard that applies to dismissals under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6). See Cesal v. Moats, 851 F.3d 714, 720 (7th Cir. 2017) (citing Booker-El v. Superintendent, Ind. State Prison, 668 F.3d 896, 899 (7th Cir. 2012)). A complaint must include "a short and plain statement of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief." Fed. R. Civ. P. 8(a)(2). The complaint must contain enough facts, accepted as true, to "state a claim for relief that is plausible on its face." Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) (quoting Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 570 (2007)). "A claim has facial plausibility when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows a court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged." Id. (citing Twombly, 550 U.S. at 556).

To state a claim for relief under 42 U.S.C. § 1983, a plaintiff must allege that someone deprived him of a right secured by the Constitution or the laws of the United States and that whoever deprived him of this right was acting under the color of state law. D.S. v. E. Porter Cnty. Sch. Corp., 799 F.3d 793, 798 (7th Cir. 2015) (citing Buchanan–Moore v. County of Milwaukee, 570 F.3d 824, 827 (7th Cir. 2009)). The Court construes pro se complaints liberally and holds them to a less stringent standard than pleadings drafted by lawyers. Cesal, 851 F.3d at 720 (citing Perez v. Fenoglio, 792 F.3d 768, 776 (7th Cir. 2015)).

2.2 Plaintiff's Allegations

Plaintiff brings this case against Defendants Zachary Lange (“Lange”), Rodney Reynolds (“Reynolds”), Yana Pusich (“Pusich”), and Kashayla Williams (“Williams”). ECF No. 1 at 1. On December 17, 2024, Plaintiff was housed in the restricted housing unit (“RHU”). Id. at 3. At approximately 5:30 p.m., Plaintiff pressed his emergency intercom button and told Williams that he was suicidal. Id. Williams told Plaintiff that she would inform the range officer. Id. Plaintiff waited for help, but no one came. Id. Approximately fifteen minutes later, Plaintiff pressed his emergency button again to tell Williams that he was suicidal and that he had engaged in self-harm. Id. Williams told Plaintiff that she had informed Lange about Plaintiff’s emergency. Id. at 3-4. Williams also said that she would inform the sergeant on deck, Reynolds, about Plaintiff’s suicidal emergency. Id. at 4. Plaintiff waited for help, but no one responded to his request. Id.

At approximately 6:30 p.m., Plaintiff pressed his emergency button a third time. Id. Plaintiff repeated his suicidal thoughts to Williams and told her that he was banging his head against the wall and felt dizzy. Id. Williams responded that she had told Reynolds and Lange. Id. Again, no one responded to Plaintiff’s request for help. Id. At approximately 7:30 p.m.,

Plaintiff pressed his emergency button a fourth time and told Williams that he had a knot on his forehead and that he was about to pass out. Id. Finally, Williams came on the unit to Plaintiff's cell to check on him. Plaintiff repeated his condition, and Williams was going to get another officer. Id. at 5. Plaintiff asked Williams not to leave because he was suicidal and felt dizzy. Id. Moments later, Plaintiff lost consciousness. Id. Plaintiff woke up at some point, was seen by a nurse, and placed on suicide watch. Id.

On December 30, 2024, Plaintiff sent a request to Pusich, the legal program supervisor, to preserve the video footage of the incident. Id. On January 12, 2024, Pusich responded and asked Plaintiff the time of the video footage. Id. Plaintiff sent another request for the video footage from between 5:30 p.m. and 7:00 p.m. Id. Pusich responded that that there was no camera from Williams and that the video of an Officer Cantu was preserved. Id.

2.3 Analysis

The Court finds that Plaintiff may proceed on an Eighth Amendment deliberate-indifference claim against Defendants Lange, Reynolds, and Williams for their indifference to the risk of Plaintiff's self-harm. The Eighth Amendment prohibits "cruel and unusual punishments" and "imposes a duty on prison officials to take reasonable measures to guarantee an inmate's safety and to ensure that inmates receive adequate care." Phillips v. Diedrick, No. 18-C-56, 2019 WL 318403, at *2 (E.D. Wis. Jan. 24, 2019) (citing Farmer v. Brennan, 511 U.S. 825, 832 (1994)). While a prison official's deliberate indifference to a prisoner's substantial risk of serious harm violates the Eighth Amendment, not every claim by a prisoner that he did not receive adequate care will succeed. Id. (citing Estelle v. Gamble, 429 U.S. 97, 104–05 (1976)). To prevail on such a claim, a plaintiff will have to provide evidence showing that “(1) his medical need was objectively serious, and (2) the defendant[] consciously disregarded this need.” Berry v. Lutsey, 780 F. App’x 365, 368–69 (7th Cir. 2019) (citing Farmer, 511 U.S. at 834).

Prison staff have a duty to prevent inmates from causing serious harm to themselves. Pittman ex rel. Hamilton v. County of Madison, 746 F.3d 766, 775–76 (7th Cir. 2014). Before an official will be liable for ignoring a risk of self-harm, however, the “risk of future harm must be sure or very likely to give rise to sufficiently imminent dangers.” Davis-Clair v. Turck, 714 F. App’x 605, 606 (7th Cir. 2018) (internal quotation marks omitted). The question of when that risk of future harm becomes “sure or very likely to give rise to sufficiently imminent dangers” depends on the circumstances of the case. See, e.g., Freeman v. Berge, 441 F.3d 543, 546–47 (7th Cir. 2006) (explaining that “at some point,” to ensure a prisoner is not “seriously endangering his health,” prison officials would have a duty and right to step in and force a prisoner on a hunger strike to take nourishment); see also Davis v. Gee, No. 14-cv-617, 2017 WL 2880869, at *3–4 (W.D. Wis. July 6, 2017) (holding that to show a constitutional injury, the harm must present an objectively, sufficiently serious risk of serious damage to future health; swallowing a handful of Tylenol fails to do that).

Here, Plaintiff alleges that Lange, Reynolds, and Williams were aware that he wanted to kill himself and failed to appropriately act. Plaintiff further alleges that after these defendants were aware of Plaintiff’s emergency, Plaintiff engaged in self-harm and eventually lost consciousness. At this early stage, the Court will allow Plaintiff to proceed on an Eighth Amendment claim against Defendants Lange, Reynolds, and Williams for their deliberate indifference to Plaintiff’s risk of self-harm.

The Court will not, however, allow Plaintiff to proceed on a claim against Pusich. Plaintiff alleges that Pusich responded to his request to preserve video evidence of the incident. Pusich responded that there was no camera from Williams and that the video of an Officer Cantu was preserved. From these allegations, the Court does not discern any wrongdoing on Pusich's part. The Court notes that the DOC's obligation to preserve evidence was likely was triggered by Plaintiff filing his inmate complaint regarding this incident, and in any event, would certainly be triggered when receiving this Order. See Trask–Morton v. Motel 6 Operating L.P., 534 F.3d 672, 681 (7th Cir. 2008) (noting that a party's duty to preserve evidence is triggered when it knows or should have known that litigation is imminent). In the event that Plaintiff is unable to receive certain evidence in the normal course of discovery and believes that Defendants improperly preserved evidence, he may return to the Court for assistance at a later time.

3. CONCLUSION

In light of the foregoing, the Court finds that Plaintiff may proceed on the following claim pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915A(b):

Claim One: Eighth Amendment deliberate-indifference claim against Defendants Lange, Reynolds, and Williams for their indifference to the serious risk of Plaintiff's self-harm.

The Court has enclosed with this Order guides prepared by court staff to address common questions that arise in cases filed by prisoners. These guides are entitled, "Answers to Prisoner Litigants' Common Questions" and "Answers to Pro Se Litigants' Common Questions." They contain information that Plaintiff may find useful in prosecuting his case.

Defendants should take note that, within forty-five (45) days of service of this Order, they are to file a summary judgment motion that raises all exhaustion-related challenges. The Court will issue a scheduling order at a later date that embodies other relevant deadlines.

Accordingly,

IT IS ORDERED that Plaintiff's motion for leave to proceed without prepaying the filing fee, ECF No. 2, be and the same is hereby GRANTED;

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Defendant Pusich be and the same is hereby DISMISSED from this action;

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that under an informal service agreement between the Wisconsin Department of Justice and this Court, a copy of the complaint and this Order have been electronically transmitted to the Wisconsin Department of Justice for service on Defendants Lange, Reynolds, and Williams;

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that under the informal service agreement, those Defendants shall file a responsive pleading to the complaint within sixty (60) days;

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Defendants raise any exhaustion-related challenges by filing a motion for summary judgment within forty-five (45) days of service;

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED if Defendants contemplate a motion to dismiss, the parties must meet and confer before the motion is filed. Defendants should take care to explain the reasons why they intend to move to dismiss the complaint, and Plaintiff should strongly consider filing an amended complaint. The Court expects this exercise in efficiency will obviate the need to file most motions to dismiss. Indeed, when the Court grants a motion to dismiss, it typically grants leave to amend unless it is "certain from the face of the complaint that any amendment would be futile or otherwise unwarranted." Harris v. Meisner, No. 20-2650, 2021 WL

5563942, at *2 (7th Cir. Nov. 29, 2021) (quoting Runnion ex rel. Runnion v. Girl Scouts of Greater Chi. & Nw. Ind., 786 F.3d 510, 524 (7th Cir. 2015)). Therefore, it is in both parties' interest to discuss the matter prior to motion submissions. Briefs in support of, or opposition to, motions to dismiss should cite no more than ten (10) cases per claim. No string citations will be accepted. If Defendants file a motion to dismiss, Plaintiff is hereby warned that he must file a response, in accordance with Civil Local Rule 7 (E.D. Wis.), or he may be deemed to have waived any argument against dismissal and face dismissal of this matter with prejudice;

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the agency having custody of Plaintiff shall collect from his institution trust account the $332.15 balance of the filing fee by collecting monthly payments from Plaintiff's prison trust account in an amount equal to 20% of the preceding month's income credited to Plaintiff's trust account and forwarding payments to the Clerk of Court each time the amount in the account exceeds $10 in accordance with 28 U.S.C. § 1915(b)(2). The payments shall be clearly identified by the case name and number assigned to this case. If Plaintiff is transferred to another county, state, or federal institution, the transferring institution shall forward a copy of this Order along with his remaining balance to the receiving institution;

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that a copy of this Order be sent to the officer in charge of the agency where Plaintiff is confined; and

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the Clerk's Office mail Plaintiff a copy of the guides entitled "Answers to Prisoner Litigants' Common Questions" and "Answers to Pro Se Litigants' Common Questions," along with this Order.

Dated at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, this 16th day of October, 2024.
